

JILLIAN DAVIS

Jillian Davis is an incoming first year student at Frostburg State University. She is currently undecided on her major, but she plans to explore various areas of interest to find a major that is the best fit for her. She is eager to learn more about various cultures, languages, as well as broaden her knowledge. In high school, Jillian was a member of the National Honor Society, National Art Honor Society, the treasurer for the Key Club (a service-oriented club), the Student Government Representative for the Class of 2021, and a member of several other clubs that assisted those in need in her local community such as those fighting cancer. Jillian enjoys helping others through community service and being involved in social causes and making new friends. She plans to continue her service commitment throughout her college career and beyond.
